

APA Division 16 Presents

Demystifying Academia: Faculty Roles & Opportunities

Join us on September 30th for Division 16's inaugural webinar, which will provide perspectives and insights from three early and mid-career faculty members on careers in academia. This one-hour, online event will focus on how graduate students and practitioners can best prepare to be competitive candidates for faculty positions. Strategies for success for early career scholars in academic positions will also be addressed.

Registration is free for Division 16 members! And, if you are not currently a member, you may still register and become a member this month at a special discounted rate of $20 for professionals and $5 for students (instructions will be sent via email). Note that all new memberships will extend through the end of 2017 and will allow free access to webinars—and other member benefits—during that time!

When:

Sept. 30, 2016
3 pm – 4 pm ET

Moderated By:

Jacqueline Brown, PhD
University of Montana

Register Now

Featuring:

Bryn Harris, PhD

Associate Professor, School of Education & Human Development,
University of Colorado

Perna Arora, PhD

Assistant Professor, School &
Clinical Child Psychology, Pace
University

Amanda Sullivan, PhD

Associate Professor & Program
Coordinator, University of Minnesota